

Be Your Best Self

February 2022

Dear Parents

Non Uniform Day - World Book Day

To mark this year's World Book Day, we will be hosting a non-uniform day on Tuesday 1st March.

World Book Day marks its 25th year anniversary this year and to celebrate WBD 2022, TGS will be having a Harry Potter themed week, as the first book also celebrates its 25th anniversary!

Students and staff are invited and encouraged to wear Harry Potter themed fancy dress and branded clothing. Wands and wizardry are welcome! Alongside the non-uniform day, we will, during the week, host a whole school Live Kahoot quiz (Harry Potter themed!) where each form group competes for magical house points...and, of course, pride!

The value of reading can not be underestimated; we believe strongly that our students will become even more confident, empathetic and knowledgeable people by delving into the world of books. We are here to encourage and support them to do just that, and what better way than celebrating one of the greatest phenomena in modern literature.

We would ask that students, as usual, donate £1, which can be made via parentpay under Non-Uniform - World Book Day Donation

All the funds raised will go towards Book Aid International, a charity whose values chime with ours: the importance of opportunity, the relentless pursuit for equality and the power of books to change lives.

Yours sincerely
